

Modern problems of the field

✖ In order to support modern scientific and methodological and legal foundations and training of young scientists, masters and talented students to solve modern problems of agriculture and water management, our scientific-practical conference is held in our institute on March 28-29 passes through. Today, the first day of the conference was held at the Faculty of Earth Resources Management. Young scientists, masters and gifted students participate in it with their articles.

Teacher of Geodesy and Geoinformatics Department, Islomov Utkir

The press secretary of the Institute, Rakhimboy Jumaniyazov